KWANTLEN POLYTECHNIC UNIVERSITY

DOCUMENTARY FILM FESTIVAL

PARTNERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Uniting learners through social justice, global citizenship, and creative solution-building

KDocs is KPU's very own Documentary Film Festival, led by learners and educators from all of KPU's communities. KDocs contributes to KPU's engagement of various and varied communities, through documentary screenings and community dialogue, in critical thinking and understanding about ourselves, our communities, and our world.

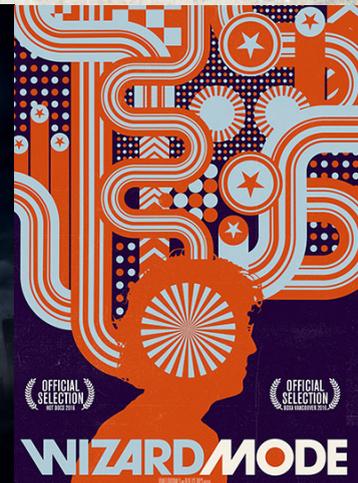

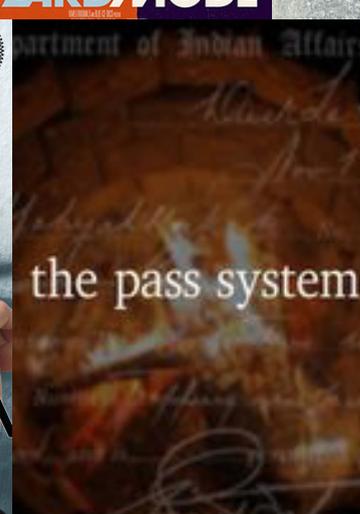

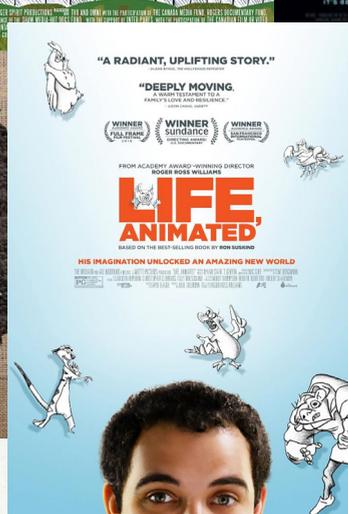

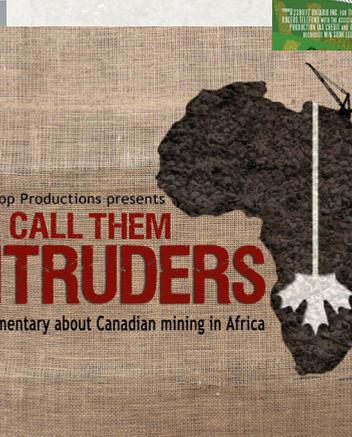

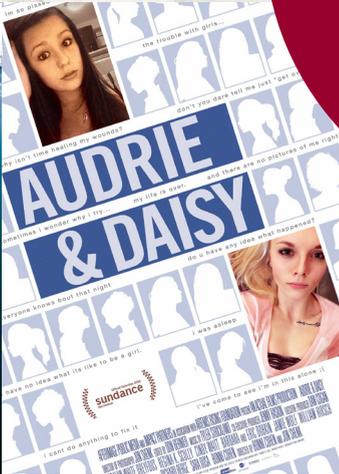

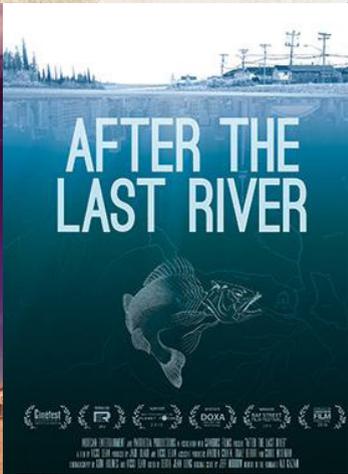

KDocs celebrates the power of documentary film. Working in partnership with the Vancouver International Film Centre + Vancity Theatre, the annual KDocs film festival showcases award-winning documentary films, keynote speakers, filmmakers, panelists, exhibitors, and community members. Participants engage in lively discussion, debate, and dialogue as they investigate today's most pressing global issues.

Over 1000 people are expected to attend KDocs 2017, including KPU students, faculty, staff, alumni, community partners, and the general public. With this audience, KDocs will provoke engagement, dialogue, and creativity, stimulating a critical examination of our complex world. Indeed, it is this kind of interdisciplinary dialogue—within and across KPU's many communities—that makes KPU exactly the kind of institution where critical debate flourishes and global citizenship takes flight.

We will screen the following
Award-winning Documentaries

What KPU Students Say

“Activism is essential to my university experience. KDocs brings social justice issues to a diverse audience. It creates a shared learning experience that is beyond what you learn in a classroom. Every time I attend a screening, I leave knowing a little bit more about the world around me and feeling a closer connection to the people in my community.”

Kari Michaels, KPU Student

Former KPU Senator
Advocacy Coordinator, Kwantlen Student Association
Co-Founder, Women Organizing Opportunities for Women (WOOW)

“KDocs is a way for KPU and the Kwantlen Student Association to jointly create safe spaces for dialogue on issues related to social justice and sustainability on a global level. It is our responsibility to be leaders on these issues in our communities and provide a hub for learning and discussion. KDocs has already seen some great success, and we look forward to the amazing shared experiences that will come in the future.”

Jessica Lar-Son, KPU Student

Former Alliance of BC Students Chairperson
Former KPU Board of Governors Member

“KDocs is another instalment in growing KPU’s outreach to its primary stakeholders: the students. The opportunity to provide another avenue for critical thinking, creativity, and innovation is the essence of progressive education. With KDocs, the graduates of KPU and the leaders of tomorrow will be engaged in diverse topics, with social justice as a foundation, in the KPU community as well as our own communities.”

Richard Hosein, KPU Student

Former KPU Board of Governors Member
KPIRG Administrative and Resource Coordinator
